NO. 4

APPEAL FOR A FAIR TRIAL.

The Republicans Issue an Address to the People of Kentucky.

A STATEMENT OF THE FACTS.

A Strong Protest Against Contest Being Tried by Packed Juries.

THEY DEMAND A FAIR TRIBUNAL.

FRANKFORT, KY., Jan. 19.—The following address to the people of Kentucky. In it they set forth the trickery which has established the packed juries now hearing the contest cases and the avowed partisanship of the Contest Board. They express their willingness to go before any fair tribunal and submit their case upon its merits, and they appeal to the manhood of the State to take such action as will prevent the contemplated outrage upon civil liberty.

The address in full is as follows:

To the Citizens of Kentucky: Owing to the trickery of the people of the public mind, and moved by a selfish desire for the welfare of the Commonwealth and the peace and happiness of her people, the Republicans of Kentucky wish to make the following statements concerning the crisis now upon us, to which statements we ask the careful consideration of all thoughtful, fair-minded, patriotic citizens of all parties.

In making this appeal to the reason and patriotism of our fellow citizens, we shall endeavor to lay aside all prejudices, party feeling and selfish interests, and shall state such facts only as have been manifest to the intelligent people of this State for some months past, together with those that are susceptible of immediate, veritable proof in the face of the world.

In order to define our position and place ourselves in a true light before the people of this State, it is necessary briefly to review the progress of events by which this crisis has advanced almost to its consummation.

On November 7, 1890, a State election, for the first time, was held under a law recently placed on our statutes and commonly known as the Goebel Election Law. This law placed in the hands of three Commissioners, all belonging to one political party, the power of naming three County Commissioners, all of whom may belong to one party, and as a matter of fact, in all the 119 counties in the State, one party either had all the three Commissioners or two out of three, thus giving that party all the State Commissioners and all or a majority of the County Commissioners in each county.

The County Boards had, by this law, the power of appointing the precinct officers in each election precinct of the State, without regard to the fitness or qualifications of the persons so appointed. This power was absolutely in the hands of the Democratic party, and in a large majority of the counties it was arbitrarily exercised in the interest of that party alone or of one faction of that party. When Republicans were appointed they were in many instances irresponsible, incapable or uneducated men, purposely placed there to give the Democratic party the advantage.

Under the law, with the entire electorate of the State, the election of November 7, 1890, held the liberty-loving citizens of the State of all parties rallied to the standard of the dominant party opposing this law, and with all odds against them, gained a verdict of condemnation against this iniquitous law, and by certified majorities varying from 2,000 to 3,000 votes, elected the entire Republican ticket.

The Democratic Board of Election Commissioners met to canvass the returns, and, by a majority of two to one, gave the certificates of election to the Republican candidates. Since that time the two of these Democratic Commissioners who decided in favor of the Republican candidates, who were unrepresented, their intelligence are known, and respected all over the State, have resigned, and their places have been filled by the other member with men of whom he openly boasts as those who will act with him in his wish to deprive the Republicans of the offices to which his former colleagues, Judges Pryor and Ellis, have declared they were elected.

This board, composed of Mr. Poyntz, who dissented from Judges Pryor and Ellis in giving the certificates to the Republicans, and of two men appointed by said Poyntz, whom he has publicly said will act with him, is empowered by this law to sit at a Board of Contest of all offices below the Governor and Lieutenant Governor, and according to rules which they have formulated, with their purposes already proclaimed and known, are now sitting as a Board of Contest on all the minor candidates.

A BOARD THAT HAS PREJUDGED. We ask every man who prizes his liberty if he would be willing to be tried by a man who has already said he was guilty and by two others whom that man had chosen; yet, such is exactly the condition of those who are to be tried by Mr. Poyntz and his two congenial colleagues.

THIS IS CONGRATULATED TO THE SPIRIT OF AMERICA. Each which gives to the criminal or the high criminal, the chicken thief or the assassin, the right to object to any juror who has a prejudice against him or who has ever expressed an opinion about his guilt? Every man who prizes his own liberty and has respect for the rights of others, must answer, "No, no."

Every man is entitled to a fair hearing before an impartial jury, and yet the State officers of Kentucky are to be tried by a man who has already decided against them, and by two others whom he has chosen. The man who is satisfied in advance that they are of like mind. Put yourself in the place of the Republican officials and ask yourself if there is not reasonable ground for objecting to the jury by whom they are to be tried. But while this law is on the statute book, your interests and your property may at any time be placed in the same jeopardy.

TESTING BEFORE PACKED COMMISSIONERS. We affirm that such method of procedure is unknown in enlightened countries, and that it is in direct antagonism to our State Constitution, which provides two houses placing each in charge of its own jurisdiction, the one acting upon the other in a coordinate action, whether sitting as a legislative or a judicial body. But the reason for its introduction is not difficult to be understood at the present time; in fact it has been proclaimed by members of the Goebel party in the hearing of witnesses, and is no more nor less than this: It is proposed, they say, "to get a report from the committee (formed as has been described above) ousting the present Governor and Lieutenant Governor from office, and then to call the two houses together for a joint legislative action and adopt the report."

clusive character. Lots had been drawn for some contests among the members of the Legislature, and on the whole, the drawing of lots for legislative contests was considered fair, and no objection or complaint was raised or could be raised. But when the time came for drawing the committee for the Governor's contest, all these ballots which had been thoroughly intermixed were destroyed and new ballots prepared; the members who had stood around to witness the drawing were ordered to their seats, and the Clerk deposited new ballots in the box. It was charged on the spot at the time of drawing, that the Clerk of the House placed the ballots with the names of those of one party had been placed in one end and those of the other in the other end of the box, and to prove the truth of his charge, asked that the box be opened, and the contents of the ballot box be examined. The member making this statement and this reasonable request was hooted down by the opposing party, and the only method of proving the honesty of this drawing or of establishing its dishonesty was denied and lost forever.

The only conclusion that any reasonable man can form for this denial is that the favored party were afraid to have the ballots examined. If the drawing had been fair, and these charges untrue, the members would have been glad to establish their honesty by an examination; for no one, not even a rogue, likes to lie under a false charge when he has the means of establishing his innocence.

We ask every man who loves honesty if he can see any reason, except a dishonest purpose, in destroying ballots well intermixed and placing others in a box so that in the manner the box was shaken they could not be intermixed; or if he can form any other conclusion, from the fact that the dominant party refused to have the position of the ballots examined immediately after the drawing that the drawing was a dishonest one? The above are facts that no one can deny, and from them you may form the conclusions of honest men.

Further than this rules of procedure in making this contest have been adopted that are subversive of the principles of our government. Rule 11, an anomaly in parliamentary practice in any civilized country, provides that on any resolution both houses may be called together at any time by the Speaker of the House, who at this time is none other than the man who wrote to Capt. Thompson of Frankfort that it was impossible to gain a victory for his party with a fair vote, and advised Thompson to call the other house, that the Democratic board might appoint a man "who would do anything to help the Democrats." This rule makes it possible any time for the man who wants men on each County board "who will do anything to help the Democrats," as he himself from his advice to others would do—make it possible for him to call the two houses together and ask for a vote on any resolution that may be submitted to their action, whether coming from a single member or a committee.

THE NEXT STEP. We affirm that such method of procedure is unknown in enlightened countries, and that it is in direct antagonism to our State Constitution, which provides two houses placing each in charge of its own jurisdiction, the one acting upon the other in a coordinate action, whether sitting as a legislative or a judicial body. But the reason for its introduction is not difficult to be understood at the present time; in fact it has been proclaimed by members of the Goebel party in the hearing of witnesses, and is no more nor less than this: It is proposed, they say, "to get a report from the committee (formed as has been described above) ousting the present Governor and Lieutenant Governor from office, and then to call the two houses together for a joint legislative action and adopt the report."

On the really meritorious bills that have been presented was introduced in the House Friday and is almost sure to go through. It provides for the appropriation of $1,500 for the purpose of restoring the Daniel Boone Monument. All the people of Kentucky will endorse this passage.

Character is more valuable than an abundance of silver and gold.

FRANKFORT NEWS.

One of the amusing things that has developed in the cross questioning of Goebel witnesses before the contest boards came out in the testimony of Lee Suter, of Louisville, Friday night. Col. Breckinridge asked:

"Mr. Suter did you ever occupy any position of trust?" Suter answered: "Yes sir, as a member of the Board of safety of the city of Louisville," then added "and as a commissioner for the Central Lunatic Asylum."

Col. Breckinridge, appearing not to have heard the last part of his answer, said sweetly in his famous mellifluous voice— "Ah, what did you say your relation was to the Lunatic Asylum?"

All of the Earlinton boys—except one—attended services in a hall at the Presbyterian church Sunday night.

Warner Campbell wants to be a legislator long enough to pass a bill making it a felony to deface the famous monument of Kentucky's renowned pioneer—Daniel Boone—whose remains rest in the cemetery here, together with those of many of Kentucky's famous men and statesmen, the memory of whom is preserved by the state in marble tombs and shafts of granite.

Scarce anybody was left over in Frankfort on Sunday and the hotel lobbies looked lonesome. The people slept late and breakfasted fast and all took on the quiet of a beautiful Sunday morning save at the headquarters of the council for either side of the hard fought contest, where the usual week-day bustle and the clatter of feet and typewriters still and continuously attested the intense interest and great import to the people of the state of the result—about which there seemed then some possible doubt.

Ed Brooks is quite at home here. Senator Berry, of Union and Henderson, is his cousin and Representative Denton, of Henderson, an acquaintance and friend. The fact is that Ed doesn't run with anybody except "members, suh!" and Warner Campbell is a close second.

Lawrence Pratt was one of the fellows in the hotel lobby when the Scott-Colson tragedy occurred, since which time he has resided continuously in Hopkins.

The adoption of Emmett Orr's resolution to give the Goebel attorneys more time before the Contest Committees, which they pretended they wanted while they were acting for the purpose of preventing the Republicans from asking more time, threw a damper over Goebel enthusiasm and shook the Goebel confidence so much that Goebel himself even went down into the hotel lobby to juggle with members he feared were slipping out of his

Earlington Commandery No. 525 Order of the Golden Cross.

It would have been a revelation to many of our town folk to have heard the reports read on Saturday night at the meeting of the Golden Cross. We are not as well informed as we should be as to the work of beneficial societies, and we do not know who may know that a good, strong lodge of this order comprising forty male members, and thirty-eight female members is doing yeoman service in our town. But there are few who give thought to the practical work accomplished. In a fraternal way the lodge has done much in bringing its members in touch along the lines of tender care for one another, when sickness and distress has come into the homes. In a social way it has brought sunshine, pleasant thoughts, and kindly interest to the members and the neighbors.

In the robust show that $118,000 of excellent insurance was held by the members of the lodge, through the monthly payments, aggregating less than $3 per cent, of the total insurance.

It has been the misfortune of the lodge to lose several members since its organization in 1892, and the insurance upon the lives of the deceased added promptly paid to beneficiaries, and all know that a little capital is to a family when its chief supporter is removed. One member remarked: "We are not rich people; we all have to work, though, or at least, the people of this country are not more rich." Another reason why the members of the lodge should do more towards increasing the membership of the nearly eighty present members, at least one-half could add fifty more to the roll if they would use a little exertion. Tell the neighbors of the very good reason why they should enter the lodge; try to arouse a lively interest by taking a deep interest in the working of the order. If only a wise discrimination should be used as to who to approach and when to talk, the right people could easily be persuaded to send in petitions.

After a very interesting meeting of the organization, convened by Representative Jno. R. Evans on Saturday night, excellent counsel and expressions as to future work was given by incoming and outgoing officials. The gathering was a representative one, and several pleasant incidents were noted one being the presence of Mrs. D. W. Umstead, his son, Mr. N. W. Umstead with his wife, Mr. W. S. Evans, Mrs. S. E. Stevenson, Mrs. J. F. Foster and wife; Messrs. W. N. Stroeker, Chas. Cowell, R. R. Pritchett, J. H. Brown, Thos. Young, Jr., Will Robinson, Jap. McGehee, Sam Magenheimer, J. W. Igglethorn and Jno. R. Evans. A photograph was taken of the group during recess of the lodge and after the session closed, delicious ice cream with cake was served by the ladies of the lodge. All enjoyed the occasion greatly and it was the hope that at the next meeting, February 3, 1900, a large attendance would assist in conferring degrees upon a new candidate.

Prizes Offered. W. A. Toombs is arranging for a series of contests in which the public school children are to take part. One prize will be offered for the best written essay on Kentucky. This description must include boundaries, area, population, its relative size compared with the other States, its rivers, mountains and cities, name and locality of the capital and population, the scenery, products of the state, celebrities of the State, number of manufacturing, mining, agricultural, prison, asylums, formation of the State and when admitted into the Union, names of two of the most noted pioneers, largest and smallest counties in the State and the name and location of the natural wonder of the world within its limits.

Another prize will be offered for the best written description and history of the American flag; and another for the best short sentence containing every letter in the alphabet. The name of some man in Earlinton must be included in this sentence. The name of some man in Earlinton must be included in this sentence.

To the small pupils, a prize will be offered for the best sketch of the Christian church near the school house.

The following are the rules by which the contest will be governed: 1. All compositions are to be written on paper of uniform size, to be selected by Prof. Bourland.

2. No pupil's name to be signed to essay. It will be numbered by the pupil's teacher.

3. Three competent judges will examine essays and award prizes.

4. Prize essays will be published in the Earlinton BEE.

5. All essays to be given to W. A. Toombs, who will then forward them to the book with the names and ages of the writers.

6. In each contest a first and second prize will be awarded.

Delightful Entertainment.

Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Long entertained the Borden Match family yesterday evening in honor of the 3rd birthday of their little daughter, Elizabeth. Those present were: Misses Minnie L. Borden, Ethel Evans, Agnes Burr, Sue Burr, Eula Richards, Luelle Crenshaw, Carrie Crenshaw, Celeste Moore, Annie Moore, and Mrs. W. G. Branham; Messrs. Henry C. Borden, W. F. Sheridan, Paul P. Price, Howard White,—Henry E. B. Borden, Will Hopewell, Jerrold Jones, G. Branham. Of course Grandma Crenshaw was present and added much to the enjoyment of the evening. After quite a pleasant time had been enjoyed socially, the guests were ushered into the dining room where a sumptuous feast awaited them. At quite a late hour the guests departed with many praises for Mr. and Mrs. Long and Grandma and with sincerest wishes for many happy birthdays for little Miss Elizabeth.

Ladies' Magazine Club.

At the home of Mrs. J. B. Atkinson the Ladies' Magazine Club was delightedly entertained Saturday afternoon. The attendance was not large and some familiar faces, among them Mrs. Foard, the President, and Mrs. Wendell, one of the charter members, were missed. Their departure is greatly regretted by the Club. Both appointed leaders were absent, but the Club was not devoid of entertainment on that account, for a short story by Octave Thanet (sometimes called the Patron Saint of the Earlinton Book Club) was well read by Miss Sallie Foard, as was an article by Mrs. Reese, on the "Boer Woman," Harpers.

Mrs. Reese was elected President for the year. The Club was refreshments were served along with interesting current events and the meeting was a most pleasant one. Miss Richards, of Hopkinsville, was the guest of the Club. The next meeting will be held with the Misses Crenshaw. Mrs. Ernest Rash and Miss Burr will lead.

Gravepine Notes.

R. P. Henry is convalescent, after an attack of chills.

Mrs. Will Stinnett has been on the sick list.

S. L. Todd visited Joe Williams at Madisonville Sunday and attended services there.

W. L. Morrison is the neighborhood photographer, and is turning out some good work.

Elder J. F. Story will preach for us Sunday at 11 o'clock.

An effort is being made to secure a vocal class for Prof. Hendricks here.

Misses Ora Barrow, Kate Walker, McNair and Lura Henry visited Miss Mayme Todd.

Leslie Laffon has returned from a visit to his grandmother and other relatives in the Neko country.

Mrs. Crenshaw has returned to Evansville after a visit of several weeks to the family of her son.

Miss Ora Barrow has returned to Hopkinsville and will teach a spring school at Herndon. We regret to give her up, as she will be missed in our society.

A lady of this vicinity, who is a musician, when asked by her guests to play, always plays, "Kou'll get no Supper Here Tonight."

Married, at the residence of the bride's father, G. W. Fugate, Miss Maude Fugate to Fletcher Brown. The marriage was no surprise to us. They will go to housekeeping near Bethlehem.

Cheap Clothing.

Pawn-brokers and fire damaged clothing for sale: Heavy All-wool Vest, 50c. to $1; All-wool Sack or Frock Coat, $1.50 to $3; All-wool Overcoats, $2 to $5. Place of business at old drug store, Young's shoe shop.

YOUNG & COUGHLER.

LOCOMOTIVE BLASTS.

Debs, it seems, is determined he will not down and is therefore trying to build up his lost reputation as a labor leader, and it is almost certain that he will never again be found with the gang who advocate tearing up track and car burning in order to gain a point.

The plans are out for a great extension of side tracks and the laying of new ones at Guthrie by the L. & N., and we understand Master of Trains Devney favors in addition to the increase of yard capacity a switch engine being placed there. This will mean a great saving of time to trains which have long hours daily standing there.

Agent Walker, of Clarksville, has again been promoted, now filling the position of superintendent of terminals in addition to that of general agent there.

Train Dispatcher Sheridan made a trip to Guthrie last Saturday on business of importance.

Mr. Whitlow, who for a while was assistant to the agent at Earlington, died last week. He was just recovering from an attack of typhoid fever when he took a relapse.

We are informed Agent Woolridge is contemplating the purchase of a residence in Madisonville.

The breaking of a dangle on the wheel of a car caused the derailing of several cars on the Providence branch one day last week.

Supervisor Sullivan, while not boasting of the strong religious character of his men, can make the claim that one of his foremen is now the possessor of five Bibles.

The wife and children of Agent Etheridge, of Sebree, spent a few days last week at Earlington with friends.

The truth of the killing of young DeGraff Coffman as brought out at the coroner's jury, was that the deceased was walking away from his murderer, when the fatal shot entered his back. Nothing was said by the deceased to even provoke a trouble. The murder occurred in a drugstore instead of a saloon as first stated.

Operator Vick, who for months worked at Nortontown, and later at Pembroke, has severed his connection with the L. & N.

George Hooser, who has been ill for many weeks past, is fast recovering and will soon be able to resume his duty as yard switchman in the Earlington yard.

Among the witnesses called to Frankfort to testify in the contest for Governor are Engineer Covert and Conductor Sparrow against whom false charges, they say, have been made.

The warm weather of late has had a telling effect on the business of the Henderson division when coal shipments fall off, when railroads suffer.

By orders of the railroad company another telegraph wire was run into the office at Kelleys last week. This is a turning point for doublehead engines and the office is an important one.

The contract work for extension of siding at relief switch has been furnished and the work of laying the rail will soon be begun.

The Manufacturer's Record says of the "American Railway Evolution in part as follows, and also makes mention of Louisville and Nashville as here quoted: "The Louisville & Nashville Railroad Co. has issued a statement for the last six months of 1899, which indicates that it is well able to declare a dividend of $2 per cent for the period mentioned. The gross earnings for the six months are calculated to be $14,077,000, an increase of $2,191,000 over the corresponding half-year. The net earnings are estimated at $4,888,000, an increase of $718,000, while the total income shows an increase of $702,000. Deducting charges of all kinds, a surplus is left of $2,047,000. As the amount of the dividend is $1,056,000, it will be seen that a balance is left after deducting this of nearly $1,000,000."

"The tremendous capacity of rail-way construction in the United States throughout the period which began with the close of the civil war and had scarcely ended at the date of the eleventh census, in 1890, absorbed so entirely the energies of those who were attracted to the business of railway transportation, that they had little time for the development of better methods than those which met, so as to give approximate satisfaction, the immediate, though temporary, demands. Capital had to be secured and traffic had to be handled, but beyond these comparatively simple means the necessities of the situation imposed no extensive obligations. Nor was there on the other hand, that stress of competition among the directors of railway enterprise which might have forced a more speedy progress than the economic condition of industries in general and of the railway business in particular absolutely required. The fact, so easily forgotten, is that the railroads of the United States, which included but 28,019.70 miles in 1880, had grown to 163,562.12 miles in 1890, showing an average yearly construction of nearly 4500 miles and an annual investment represented by securities valued at more than $250,000,000, is evidence that the demand for administrative and executive officers must have absorbed not only the entire supply of the fairly comely men individuals who had enjoyed previous railway experience, but many others whose mechanical talents were in those well qualified in other occupations.

As there was at the same time a parallel development of many other industries in the United States, it is clear that the quality of American railway administration is attributable rather to the inherent ability of those employed than to the comparative tests of excellence imposed by the conditions of the service.

The high degree of efficiency actually attained in railway administration is, therefore, much more remarkable than the new and unexpected fact that it might have been still higher."

"The reports of the various railroads in the United States for the calendar year 1890 show that the earnings of the Southern roads increased 10.4 per cent. This was exceeded only by the "Grangers." And the coal-carrying systems. This remarkable showing is made in spite of the fact that the cotton movement was much smaller during the season than in 1888, indicating that miscellaneous freight traffic has very largely expanded. The earnings of the principal systems of the country show an increase in the aggregate of 9.7 per cent, the Southern roads exceeding this."

"Among the individual gains shown in the Southern roads, the following are especially mentioned: Southern $2,857,000, Mobile & Nashville $3,151,000, Mobile & Ohio $1,229,000, Central of Georgia $107,000, Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis $184,000, Chesapeake & Ohio $155,000, Norfolk & Western $1,347,000. In the case of the Illinois Central the earnings for the entire system amounted to $29,588,000. A large portion of this can be properly included in the earnings of the Southern group.

Accordingly, the statistics are very encouraging to investors in railroad properties in the South, as they show not only the healthy condition of traffic, but are partly the result of able and conservative management."

Danger Signals!

Do you take cold with every change in the weather? Does your throat feel raw? And do sharp pains dart through your chest?

Don't you know there are danger signals which point to pneumonia, bronchitis, or consumption itself?

If you are ailing and have lost flesh lately, they are certainly danger signals. The question for you to decide is, "Have I the vitality to throw off these diseases?"

Don't wait to try SCOTT'S EMULSION "as a last resort." There is no remedy equal to it for fortifying the system. Prevention is easy.

Indianapolis, Jan. 20.—The convention of the United Mine Workers of America today voted down two important resolutions. The first one provided that hereafter all national conventions be held in mining towns; the second was one sympathizing with the Boers of South Africa. A fine silver resolution was tabled amid a yell of enthusiasm. "We want no 16 to 1," yelled the delegates. "We are not a monetary convention," was the shout. "Kill it and let us go ahead."

A resolution offered by Indiana favoring weekly payment of wages was voted down.

A uniform time contract resolution was tabled. A resolution providing that President Mitchell on March 15 or October 15 each year, issue a proclamation outlining the policy of the national board was scraped, and $1.00, all druggists.

DOWN IN THE MINES.

Foreman Toombs informs us that under his direction Thos. Longstaff and crew have reached the water in retimbering of the Heels shaft and in a short time the work will be completed and the mine cleared of water and thereby the producing capacity of the mine increased. There is no talk of putting up a new shaft, but the new shafts sunk by the Heels Coal Co. before they sold the property to the St. Bernad Coal Co. This we understand will be permanent pumping station.

Last week at the Oakhill mine in order to enforce strict discipline among them both the weigher and the checker were suspended for a day or two. The cause was that they saw fit to dock a digger who was sending out too much dirt, slack and slate in his cars. The rules allow them the privilege of docking as much as one car a day on a miner if necessary, but the over-cars and hence the enforcement of rigid discipline. One of the strange things about the affair was that the checkerweigher and weigher agreed on the point at issue.

The lack of orders caused the Oakhill Coal Co. to shut down the mine most of last week but as they have reaped a good harvest they can stand a few days rest.

The unusual and strange indeed it has been during the last year for the mines here to stop for a day that last week when weigher James Fegan was called upon to take a day's rest he had hard work persuading himself that it was a good harvest and the coal-carrying systems.

F. B. Harris, of South Diamond, was here Sunday and reports a strange occurrence at that mine last week, the loss of two men.

As the fact is made known that the miners have had little or no rest, A few days in which to recuperate their fast failing strength comes as a recreation to them.

The weather man did all he could last week to encourage the coal operator and miner by predicting colder weather from day to day, but rest good he could not deliver.

Foremen Day, Evans, Rule and Wyatt showed that in addition to being good mine foremen, they take part in an ice cream supper as was fully illustrated last Saturday night at the luncheon given by the Knights and Ladies of the Golden Cross.

It was noticed that after spending sometime devouring the ice cream they were still good to deliver.

The Saginaw, Mich., Courier-Herald says: "The St. Charles Coal Co. will begin sinking a shaft on Sam Cravens' farm this month. The location is about a half a mile south east of the Somers No. 2 mine."

Owing to the strike troubles in Arkansas, the coal output of that State shows a shortage of over 200,000 tons, and the coal operators are in a bind.

The eighty-eight coal mines in operation in Colorado produced 4,765,879 tons of coal employed 7,321 men last year.

SENTIMENT

Of Honest Kentuckians Against Goebelism

GROWING DAILY AND DAILY.

The Goebelites Are Uncertain of Their Strength, and Are Careful of Making a Test.

LATEST FROM FRANKFORT.

SPECIAL TO THE BEE:

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 24.—It can be said upon best information that the sentiment of honest Kentuckians against the rule of Goebelism is growing daily and daily, gaining adherents from the ranks of former thick and thin Goebel men. The growth and strength of this sentiment can not be known or guessed by those not in close touch with affairs here and through the State. Expressions of this feeling come from sources that would not be thought of. Of course, we will take much to overtake the strength of the leaders in the General Assembly and the Contest Committee as they are constituted, but there is a ray of hope that fairness may triumph. The Goebel men are uncertain of their strength and are careful of making a test. The Republican members of the house will all be here before Friday morning, when an important contest comes up for a seat in the House. Three Republican members have been absent this week; some of them with out permission.

Attorneys for the contestants are still introducing Louisville witnesses, who have stopped long enough to prove in some telling proof about thin ballots in Democratic counties. Goebel's attorneys are getting a long dose on the thin ballot question, as well as on the charge of military intimidation in Louisville. No fair man could but see the absurdity of the contestants' claims on these points, when they hear these contentions so thoroughly riddled, as has been done by witnesses introduced.

Colonel Sebree and Judge Breathitt are prominent in Republican leadership here, and are doing the work, with untiring energy.

Hopkins county witnesses have not been called yet, but are assured they will be called tomorrow afternoon. P. M. M.

What does it do?

It causes the oil glands in the skin to become more active, making the hair soft and glossy, precisely as nature intended.

It cleanses the scalp from dandruff and thus removes one of the great causes of baldness.

It makes a better circulation in the scalp and stops the hair from coming out.

It Prevents and Cures Baldness

Ayer's Hair Vigor will surely make hair grow on bald heads, provided only there is any life remaining in the hair bulbs.

It restores color to gray or white hair. It does not do this in a moment, as will a hair dye; but in a short time the gray color of age gradually disappears and the darker color of youth takes its place.

Would you like a copy of our book on the Hair and Scalp? It is free.

You do not obtain all the benefits you expect from the use of the Vigor until you have used it.

Address, DR. J. C. AYER, Lowell, Mass.

THE REPORTS ON QUAY.

The Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections stands five to four against him.

Washington, Jan. 23.—The reports in the Quay case made in the senate by the committee on privilege and elections were presented for the majority by Turley, and for the minority by Hoar. The first was signed by Turley, Caffey, Petus and Harris, and Burrows concurred. The views of the majority were expressed by Hoar, while Prather and McComas, the committee standing five to four in favor of excluding Quay, on the ground that the governor of Pennsylvania had no constitutional right to appoint after the failure of the legislature to elect.

THE OMAHA BRIBERY CASES.

Senrs and Mrs. Members of the Board of Education Held for Trial.

Omaha, Neb., Jan. 24.—Frank A. Sears and George H. Hines, members of the board of education, had their preliminary hearing yesterday on the charge of receiving bribes in connection with the letting of contracts for public franchises. The defense associates in a voluminous document, and is accompanied by a summary of the law and facts. It gives the details of the hearings, the many opportunities afforded Mr. Roberts to present his case, his refusal to testify, and the unanimous finding of facts, heretofore published. It proceeds:

"The committee is unanimous in its belief that the defense is well founded in a member of the house of representatives. A majority are of the opinion that he should be allowed to become a member; that the house has the right to determine the proper course of procedure to be adopted; and that it is the duty of the committee to support him in his efforts to vindicate himself and his colleagues."

The report concludes as follows:

"If there be any question in this case, it is that the committee should give almost exclusively to Mr. Roberts a carefully prepared defense."

Mr. Turner spoke on the Phillipsburg bill, carrying $16,245,250, was passed, with a vote favoring the committee in its discretion, the fees of attorneys in pension cases where he paraded the cases under their personal supervision.

In the senate on the 23d, a motion by Mr. Allard (D. of. Neb.), calling for information as to the recognition of the Transvaal republic, was made.

It was voted down.

The committee is unanimous in its belief that the defense is well founded in a member of the house of representatives. A majority are of the opinion that he should be allowed to become a member; that the house has the right to determine the proper course of

Smallpox in Madisonville.

It is said that smallpox has broken out in Madisonville. A negro by the name of Winstead is said to have a rare case of the loathsome disease. This has been denied by many of Madisonville's citizens. The authorities have purchased a post horse and the negro has been sent there. Stringent steps to bring about general vaccination have been taken.

Miss Moore Entertains.

On last Friday evening Mrs. Celeste Moore entertained quite a number of her friends, in honor of Miss Richards, of Hopkinsville. Those present were: Misses Sue Bur, Annie Cowell, Carrie and Lucy Crenshaw, Eula Richards, Annie Moore, Minnie and Alice Bourland and Mrs. E. A. Chatten: Messrs. W. F. Sheridan, Theo. Wats, H. C. Bourland, P. R. Price, G. W. Mothershead, Howard White, J. A. Johnson and Dr. R. W. Long.

Everyone was afforded a pleasant time for the visitors, and after quite a time had been spent in games and conversation, delightful refreshments were served. All present enjoyed the occasion very much and Miss Moore sustained her reputation as a most charming hostess.

Confederate Reunion.

The Confederate Reunion in Louisville will be held on the 2d with the occasion of bringing out unique and interesting relics. None of them are more valuable than the now famous Palmetto vase. It was presented by the ladies of South Carolina to Gen. Andrew Jackson, in honor of his victory at New Orleans, January 8, 1815. By his will in 1845, Gen. Andrew bequeathed it to his son, Andrew Jackson, Jr., with the instruction that in the event of war it was to be given to the South Carolina patriot who was adjudged by his countrymen, the ladies, to have been the most valiant in the defense of his country and country's rights. At the close of the Mexican War, in 1888, it was presented to the Palmetto regiment and the association decided it should be kept by the executive committee for the last survivor. The vase is of tureen shape, heavily worked and handsomely engraved. On one side stands the shield and motto of the State, with the inscription, "Presented by Gen. Andrew Jackson to Wm. B. Stanley, president Palmetto Association, in trust for the last survivor." On the other side: "Presented by the Ladies of South Carolina to the Confederate Reunion."

The vase rests on a silver base, on one side of which is an engraved representation of the battle of New Orleans, with the date January 8, 1815. The vase has been carried to the following reunions of the Mexican War Veterans of the United States: Washington, D. C., 1873; New Orleans, La.; Nashville, Tenn., 1870; and to the reunions of the Palmetto Regiment, Atlanta, Ga., 1889, and Charleston, S. C., 1889.

Mrs. Potts, of near this place, died Thursday night of heart failure.

Her condition had deteriorated at the time of her death.

She was in the night feeling bad and went into the kitchen to get her a drink of water.

Her daughter heard her and asked if she was sick, and she replied that she felt as if she was going to smother and she assisted her back to her room and she expired soon after.

Her remains were laid to rest in the Odd Fellows cemetery Friday afternoon.

Mr. James Davis died Friday evening.

He had a brief spell of typhoid fever about four weeks ago and experienced a relapse.

He had been in a feverish condition before he became strong enough to stand the extreme cold weather.

He went to see his father who was at that time sick.

A widow and four children survive him.

Charles Fontenberry is extremely ill with typhoid fever.

His recovery is doubtful, and if he should die his presence will be greatly missed for us.

He is the son of Theo. Fontenberry.

As will be seen in this letter the typhoid fever is raging and its victims are numerous.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Bagnall are both down with typhoid fever, but are not as bad as this writing.

John Below is very ill with typhoid fever.

This makes three persons of Prof. J. T. Price and his pupil, Frank Prude, have received the appointment to the State Mechanical College at Lexington, from Supt. Parish of Union county.

Mr. Price is at present teaching school at Hammonton, schoolhouse.

No better could the honor been conferred upon.

The teacher is the only one in the country who holds 100 per cent in arithmetic.

They both show an anxious desire for learning and will make good use of the opportunity afforded them.

Robbed at the Grave.

A startling incident, of which Mr. John Oliver, of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him.

Oliver is in a most remarkable condition.

Myskin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pulse extremely rapid and weak, and no appetite, gradually growing weaker day by day.

Three physicians had given me up.

For a day and a half my joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement.

I continued the same three weeks and am now a well man.

I know that I have saved my life.

One should fail to try them.

WAS ALMOST A RACE WAR

Negroes Beat White Man at Mayfield and Cause Trouble.

Mayfield, Ky., Jan. 22.—A street fight between the 12-year-old son of Col. Sam Greenland, and a tall negro boy, late this afternoon may yet be the outgrowth of trouble. The youngsters were fighting near South street railroad crossing when Mr. Jos. A. Jones, a leading commission merchant and poultry dealer, came along and attempted to disperse the little fellows. In doing so three negro women ran up and began to fight Mr. Jones, beating him unmercifully with bricks and sticks, and, being helpless to defend himself, he was at their mercy.

Alfred Dale, a husband of one of the women, then joined in the game, and would have gotten in dangerous work had it not been for the arrival of some white men. The son of Mr. Jones wanted to avenge the treatment given his father, but was prevented by the officers.

By the time the negroes had reached the court room the news of the affair had spread like fire and there was intense excitement.

Caused Court to Adjourn

Owensboro, Ky., Jan. 22.—In the circuit court today Judge Owen announced that there were grounds for believing that the rumors of smallpox in Owensboro would probably deter jurors and witnesses from being present and, after hearing expressions from the bar, he had an order entered continuing all cases on the ordinary docket until the June term. Court will continue in session for the hearing of all equity cases.

Notwithstanding the announcement of Mayor Small that there were only a few cases of so-called smallpox in the city and that there are mostly convalescents, these are discouraging rumors and much public dissatisfaction over the very indefinite statements of the officials and the apparent difficulty of securing accurate information concerning the number and character of eruptive cases here.

Prison Report Given Out

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 20.—The annual report of the state board of penitentiary commissioners was distributed to members of the legislature today. The book is an interesting one for the things it does not contain—the abuses in the state penitentiaries.

The report contains the following statistics in regard to the Frankfort penitentiary: Prisoners in confinement December 1, 1898, 1,352; received from the sheriffs of the state, 501; from Eddyville three were received and three escaped prisoners were returned, making a total of 1,829 from all sources. There were discharged by expiration of time 538; pardoned, 59; sent to asylum 2; sent back for new trial, 1; escaped, 3; died, 16, and 41 sent to school of reform at Lexington, making a total of 600, which left in confinement on the 30th day of November, 1899, 1,199 convicts. A comparison of the reports of 1898 there were received from sheriffs 671 prisoners, and in 1899 there were received 501 from sheriffs, making a difference of

A Kentucky preacher, the other day, while exhorting and admonishing his congregation to press upward, stated that "there is always room at the top." If there wasn't, that preacher's chance for heaven would be slim.—Southern Record.

170 in the receipts in the two years. It will further appear that on the 30th day of November, 1898, there were 1,352 in confinement, and on the 30th day of November, 1899, there were 1,199, making a difference of 158; less 41 boys sent to the state reform school, leaving a difference of 112.

At the branch prison the report shows 486 convicts.

This paragraph occurs in the report in regard to the Frankfort penitentiary:

"Owing to the exorbitant rates charged for water by the Frankfort Water Company, we respectfully petition the legislature for an appropriation sufficient for sinking a well, or to obtain a water supply from the river. During the year just ended we were obliged to pay the sum of $5,025.75 for water, and we could for that amount, have our own water works. The above amount paid for water is about 5 percent. of the cost of maintaining the penitentiary."

Jenny Lind's Determination.

"You must change your entire method of singing," said a famous teacher of vocal technique in Europe. She knew that the greatest and most successful singers then before the public had been his pupils, and had followed his method of voice-building.

But how could she afford to throw away those three years of patient practice, go back and change and undo all that she had laboriously accomplished hitherto? The sacrifice seemed too great. Would it pay? She was already a god singer. Her voice was one of exceptional power and sweetness. The temptation was strong to be content with what she might become under the old method, even if it were not the best. She went to her room and thought it all over. Finally, she said to herself:

"The time will come when I shall weep for this moment, if I let it pass. I am determined to be content with nothing but the best that is possible for me, no matter what the sacrifice may be."

In the morning she went again to the famous teacher and told him that she was ready to begin her musical education afresh, according to his method. That young woman was Jenny Lind.

Pension Agent's New Orders.

Pension Agent Leslie Combs has issued orders to guardians of pensioners that they must render yearly accounts on a blank for the year beginning August 5, 1898, and ending August 4, 1899. These accounts must show the amount of pension received and the amount disbursed and what disbursed for.

Instructions have also been issued to pensioners in Kentucky that their vouchers for this quarter must be dated February 4, regardless of the fact that it is Sunday, and not on an earlier date.

A Kentucky preacher, the other day, while exhorting and admonishing his congregation to press upward, stated that "there is always room at the top." If there wasn't, that preacher's chance for heaven would be slim.—Southern Record.
